THIS MONTH

78 I Am Robert Keith Gray
Joseph C. Goulden on the power, money, connections, and influence of Hill and Knowlton, the PR superfirm, and the man who makes it all look so easy.

83 SUPERHEAVYSPEEDMONEYMUSIC
Charlie McCollum takes a trip into the otherworld of rock stars Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young and the groupies and roadies who follow them from bedroom to concert hall.

90 Washington 2001
Cornelia Noland predicts the city of the future.

94 The Air Traveler's Survival Guide
John H. Corcoran's good advice on getting to the airport, through the terminal, eating, drinking, impressing the stewardesses, and in general having a good flight.

100 A Good Man Is Hard to Find
Phyllis Theroux searches for an honest man in Congress.

105 The Secret Sin
Reflections on loneliness in the big city by Julia Cameron and Thierry Bright-Sagnier.

109 They Come to Win
A gallery of racetrack regulars by Betsy K. Frampton.

115 Pentagon Cool
Tad Szulc profiles James R. Schlesinger, the intellectual cynic who runs the US defense establishment.

137 Crime Without Punishment
Harvey Katz examines the punishment of Richard Kleindeinst and other white-collar criminals and finds a kind of country-club justice.

191 The Fall Home Buying Guide
Tina Laver surveys the cost and availability of housing and searches for good buys in apartments, while Sheldon Schreiberg and John Engel offer tips on financing your new home.

231 Made in Scandinavia
Many nice Scandinavian things are available in Washington: Andy Leon Harney finds the best in design, Phyllis C. Richman shops for pastries and other good foods, and Charles F. Turgeon rates beers and cheeses.
